

Bylaws of Faculty Advisory Council
Amended to comply with SB 37, January 2026

CHAPTER I. Elections and Presidential Appointments

A. General Considerations

1. All elections, nominations, and reapportionments associated with the Faculty Advisory Council (FAC) shall be conducted by the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee, a standing committee of the FAC.
2. Appointed members are chosen by the University President.
3. Candidates for elected representatives may only be nominated by eligible electors from their own electoral units. Representatives are elected by eligible electors within their own electoral units, and not at large.

B. Eligibility of Electors and Representatives

1. Persons eligible to vote in elections for the FAC are identified in Part II, Section B.1 of the FAC Constitution.
2. The status of any elector challenged under these guidelines shall be determined by the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee of the FAC, subject to appeal to the full FAC.
3. Persons eligible for election to the office of representative are identified in Part II, Section B.2 of the FAC Constitution.
4. Elected representatives have a term limit of a single two-year term. Presidentially appointed representatives are appointed for a one-year term, with a term limit of six consecutive years. Any representative having reached a term limit will only be eligible for re-election or re-appointment after waiting two years.

C. Nomination of FAC Candidates

1. Unless restricted by a procedure created through bylaw I.C.5, persons eligible for election to the office of representative may place their own name in nomination, or they may consent to their nomination by any other eligible elector.
2. All nominations shall be submitted to the FAC office in writing or electronically.
3. The nomination period for election of representatives shall be determined by the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee, which will have the option of ending the nomination period two days before the voting period begins.
4. Members of the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee shall be responsible for verifying the eligibility of nominees within their respective electoral units, subject to an appeal to the full committee.
5. Electoral units may establish additional procedures to ensure that the representatives represent the diversity of disciplines within their units. These procedures must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the unit's faculty members voting on the proposed change.

6. For Presidentially appointed representatives, the FAC will advise the President by providing a list of faculty members who indicate their interest in appointment, derived from the annual faculty interest survey. In the event that no one from a given academic unit expressed interest in being appointed to the FAC, FAC will work with the unit's associate dean/director to identify name(s) to be added to the list prior to submission to the president.

D. Elections

1. Members of the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee shall conduct regular FAC elections for non-appointed positions. If a member of the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee is a candidate for reelection, another representative will be appointed by the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee to assist in conducting the election.
2. Regular election of representatives shall take place no later than three weeks prior to the final FAC meeting each academic year. The voting period shall be established by the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee and reported to the FAC no later than the antepenultimate FAC meeting. The voting period shall last for no fewer than 4 business days. Votes shall be submitted electronically before the end of the voting period.
3. Each elector may cast a vote for each vacancy in his/her electoral unit at stake in the election.
4. In general, FAC vacancies in each electoral unit are filled in order of the number of votes each candidate receives from their electoral unit: the candidate with the largest number of votes is elected to fill the first vacancy; the candidate with the second largest number of votes would be elected to fill a second vacancy; and so forth. However, candidates must receive votes from a majority of the participating voters to be elected.

If an election needs to fill one-year replacement term(s) in addition to the standard two-year term(s), one of the following two processes may be followed:

- a. The standard ballots will be created. The candidate(s) receiving the most votes will assume the two-year term(s). The candidate(s) receiving the next-highest number of votes will assume the one-year term(s).
- b. If, however, a nominee states that they wish to be considered solely for a one-year term, an additional ballot question will be created specifically designated as a one-year term. The aforementioned nominee will only appear in this ballot question, as will all other candidates. After the standard ballots are counted and all two-year terms are filled, the names of those newly elected representatives will be removed from consideration for the one-year term. Then the one-year term ballot question's votes will be counted.

In all cases, candidates must receive votes from a majority of the participating voters to be elected.

Runoff elections can be triggered in two ways: (1) not enough candidates receive such a majority to fill all vacancies, or (2) more than enough candidates receive a majority of votes and an exact ordering of the winner cannot be determined because of tie votes.

- a. In the case of a runoff, unelected candidates will be included in the runoff in the order of the number of votes received until there are more candidates included than there are vacancies remaining undecided. If two or more candidates receive the same number of votes, and at least one would need to be included in the runoff, all such candidates will be included.
 - b. The runoff election for the initial elections shall be held from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on one day and shall be conducted within one week of the regular election. Voting may be submitted electronically.
 - c. The results of the runoff shall be used to fill remaining vacancies using the same procedure as the initial election. However, should there still be seats undecided after the runoff election, all remaining vacancies will be filled by lot from the persons who were candidates in the runoff election.
5. All ballots in all elections will be counted by members of the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee in a publicly announced, open meeting.

E. Vacancies

1. Should an elected seat become vacant between the regular election and the following October 1, the seat shall be filled by a special election conducted by the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee. The elected person shall serve the remainder of the term of that seat.
2. Should an elected seat become vacant on or after October 1 and before the next regularly scheduled election, the Speaker, in consultation with the other Representatives of that electoral unit, may appoint a replacement who shall serve until the next regularly scheduled election.
3. Should an appointed seat become vacant, the President will appoint a replacement.
4. Should an elected representative anticipate being absent from the campus, or otherwise be unable to perform his or her duties for a period of time encompassing three or more regularly scheduled consecutive meetings of the FAC, then:
 - a. If an elected representative taking a leave of absence from campus anticipates missing no more than one long-term semester of regularly scheduled consecutive meetings, the absent Representative will be replaced temporarily with a faculty member from her/his electoral unit, as detailed in E.2 and E.3 above. Upon return the elected Representative will be reinstated.
 - b. If the time from the anticipated date of return to the expiration of the term will encompass no more than three regularly scheduled meetings of the Faculty FAC, then a temporary replacement shall be elected or appointed by the FAC, at the discretion of the Awards/Bylaws/Election Committee, in accordance with the spirit of E.1 and E.2 above.
 - c. If the time remaining in the term after the anticipated return will encompass more than three regularly scheduled meetings of the FAC, then the elected representative shall resign and the vacant seat shall be filled in accordance with E.1 and E.2 above.

CHAPTER II. Officers of the Faculty Advisory Council
