Frequently Asked Questions

How are rates for faculty and staff determined?

The membership fee is the same rate that students pay in their fees. It is part of Texas law that non-students pay a fee that is not less than the fee that students pay.

Why is there no deadline for the Fall, Spring or Summer registration?

Faculty and staff are eligible to enroll at any time during the year.

Are affiliates or alumni eligible to enroll in the payroll deduction program?

No, all participants must be employed by Texas A&M University–Corpus Christi.

Are students eligible for the payroll deduction program?

No, the Recreational Sports fee is included in their student fees.

Can I have my account deducted for my significant other or senior dependent?

Yes, your account can be deducted for a significant other or senior dependent. You must have a current membership in order to do this.

Can my spouse/domestic partner or senior dependent participate in Group Fitness Classes?

Yes, they can participate in the Group Fitness Classes. They will need a membership to use the facility and to participate in Group Fitness Classes.

What if I no longer want to participate in the payroll deduction plan?

Please submit this form to Recreational Sports. You will not receive a refund for the current month. If the request is received after the 20th of the month, deduction from your check will end with the 2nd check from that date.

What is my universal ID number?

All employees have been issued a universal ID number to take the place of their social security number by Human Resources. Please contact HR if you do not know your number.

Can I purchase personal training or a locker through payroll deduction?

At this time, payroll deduction can only be used for membership. You must possess a membership prior to purchasing personal training sessions or a locker.
